Profile

Carlos Foulkes is the son and protégée of His Excellency Sir Arthur A. Foulkes, The Governor General of the Commonwealth of The Bahamas. The training he received from His Excellency in matters of international diplomacy has become an essential skill that he has applied to his role as a professional manager in the field of aviation for almost ten years. His accomplishments range from being appointed as the youngest manger in the history of Nassau Flight Services Ltd to graduating with honors from the BBA in Management program from the College of the Bahamas. In addition to his training in Engineering he has developed what his peers describe as an ‘unmatched skill in critical thinking and problem solving’. His aptitude in matters of finance has allowed him to successfully lead two major divisions of Nassau Flight Services Ltd. However his has declared to close friends and family on countless occasions that his passion really lies in improving the nature of entertainment in the country. After years of personal expense, self-teaching, seminars and research into the field of entertainment the Atavus Group limited was born and represents the beginning of his goal.
